REPUBLICANS KEEP SENATE; INDEPENDENTS RULE HOUSE

G.O.P.'s Majority In Upper Chamber Cut To Ten

HOUSE IN DOUBT

Control Apparently To Rest With "Outsiders"

(Reuter's Service)

New York, November 9.—The next House of Representatives will consist of 225 Republicans, 207 Democrats, one Socialist, one Farmer-Labor and one Independent.

Washington, Nov. 10.—President Harding has summoned an extraordinary session of Congress for November 20. In the meantime he welcomes the proposal to postpone the Lausanne Conference which would give the Government time to instruct the unofficial representatives who will probably be Mr. Jos. S. Grew, Minister to Switzerland, Admiral Bristol and possibly Mr. Richard W. Child, the American Ambassador at Rome.

Warsaw, November 10.—Cordial speeches on the Russo-German relations were exchanged on the occasion of M. Brockdorf Frantzau resenting his credentials as the first German Ambassador to Russia since the revolution.

(China Press Service)

San Francisco, Nov. 10.—The Republicans have retained control of the United States Senate by a majority of 10, but control of the House of Representatives still remains doubtful and may be vested in four independents who have been elected, according to the latest tabulations.

The Republicans will have 52 Senators and the Democrats 42, according to the latest totals, as against 60 Republicans and 36 Democrats in the last Congress. The Democratic gain of six senators is charged up against the Republican tariff by editorials in the American newspapers and political observers. One Nonpartisan candidate has been elected and one seat is still in doubt.

Control of the House may be in the hands of four men, including one Socialist, Victor Berger of Wisconsin, as the returns indicate that 218 Republicans and 206 Democrats will sit in the next session.

Four independents have also been elected and seven seats are still undetermined but appear favorable to the Democrats. If all seven Democratic candidates are elected it will give the Republicans 218, the Democrats 213 and the independents four, which, with the usual radical Republicans who break party lines in voting will vest control in the four independents.

Two changes in the Senate lineup, both losses for the Republicans, have been made by late returns. Senator Miles Poindexter of Washington, candidate for the Republican nomination for President at the last national convention, and Senator from Washington for three terms, has been defeated. He was opposed by ex-Congressman C. C. Dill, Democrat, and James A. Duncan, Farmer-Labor, and his defeat comes as one of the most severe upsets of the Republican hopes.

Senator Poindexter has been one of the leading Progressive Republicans and in his campaign for re-election several national 'big guns' have stumpted the state for him including Senator William E. Borah of Idaho, Senator Wesley L. Jones, his colleague, Senator Ralph H. Cameron of Arizona, and Secretary of Labor James L. Davis.

Governor Lynn Frazier, the Nonpartisan candidate for United States Senator from North Dakota, has also apparently been elected although earlier returns indicated his defeat. The North Dakota vote is extremely close, however, and may take an official count to decide.

New York, Nov. 9.—Observers everywhere claim that the election results indicate a general movement among the people towards normal conditions in tariff, taxation, freight rates and prohibition.

Allies Want U. S. Envoy On Rhine

(Reuter's Service)

Washington, Nov. 10.—The proposals which the British, French, Italian and Belgian Ambassadors have submitted to Mr. Hughes, the Secretary of State, recognising the equality of the American claims with the Allied claims on Germany for the maintenance of the troops on the Rhine, suggested that an American expert should be sent to Paris to confer on the methods affecting payment.

It was pointed out that the German advances hitherto have been mainly in kind, which are useful to the Allies but useless to America.

Mellon Would Lift Ban On Immigration

(Reuter's Service)

Washington, Nov. 9.—It is declared at the Treasury Department that any proposal to modify the American immigration restrictions in order to provide the country with a greater labor supply would have the approal of Mr. Mellon, Secretary for the Treasury, although he would require some means of selection devised to prevent an undue increase in other classes of immigrants. Mr. Mellon holds that the rising tide of prosperity is responsible for the labor shortage and this in turn is largely accountable for the continuance of high prices.

KOREAN SLAYER OF MRS. SNYDER ORDERED TO DIE

Appeals Sentence Of Life Imprisonment At Nagasaki

Kim Yi-shang, the Korean who shot Mrs. W. J. Snyder, of Brazil, Ind., while attempting to assassinate Baron General Tanaka of Japan when the latter stepped ashore here from a steamer last March, must pay for his crime with his life, after all.

Kim was tried in the Nagasaki lower court, following his arrest here, and sentenced to life imprisonment. On this sentence he took an appeal to the higher court, with a result that must have shocked him considerably, for the higher court, far from sympathising with him, decided that the lower tribunal had been too lenient, and decided that instead of life imprisonment he should be executed for his crime. This ruling so amazed Kim that he threw a chair at the judge and attempted to escape in the confusion created by that act. He was overpowered, however, and now awaits execution in Nagasaki.

Kim was one of two Koreans who made a mad attempt to assassinate Baron General Tanaka as he was passing through Shanghai returning to Japan from an official visit to Governor-General Wood at Manila last Spring. As General Tanaka walked up the Custom's jetty the two Koreans opened fire with automatic pistols and one attempted to hurl a bomb. The shots went wild and Mrs. Snyder who with her husband had arrived in Shanghai just a few minutes previously on a round-the-world tour, was wounded, dying a few minutes later. The bomb failed to explode and the two assassins fled, pursued by a number of prominent Shanghai residents. The Koreans continued shooting and before they were captured wounded several others.

After their arrest both men admitted to the Municipal Police that they were attempting to murder General Tanaka and were then turned over to the Japanese authorities. While being held in the Japanese Consulate jail one of the Koreans with a Japanese prisoner escaped from the cells and despite efforts that have been made to recapture them including the offer of a large reward no trace of the escaped Korean has been found. The Japanese who escaped was recaptured.

U. S. Boats, Made Dry By Daugherty Ruling, Cut Tours

(Reuter's Service)

Washington, Nov. 10.—Incidental to Mr. Daugherty's ruling banning liquor on American ships was the cancellation of a number of foreign tours. This difficulty has now been circumvented in the case of two vessels which the Shipping Board has permitted to be transferred to Panama registry.

200 Chinese Lose Lives In River Tragedy Here When Fire Destroys Boat At Point

Passengers On Steamer Trapped Below Decks And Perish Despite Heroic Efforts Of River Police And Others To Save Them

Another terrible river tragedy in which in the neighborhood of 200 Chinese are believed to have lost their lives, occurred early yesterday morning when a Tsungming island chicken and cargo steamer was gutted by fire in the reaches of the Whangpoo a short distance below the Point.

The steamer, the Tashing, one of the large fleet of Chinese owned vessels plying between Shanghai and Tsungming, was heavily freighted with cotton, both above and below decks. The manner in which the fire started was a mystery yesterday, but it spread with such terrific rapidity that many passengers were trapped below and had no chance for their lives.

Scores of others flung themselves into the river and admirable and valiant work on the part of the River Police, and the crews of launches of the Whangpoo Conservancy Board, and a dredger which happened to be in the neighborhood, was the means of saving about 150 who were picked up.

How many were drowned it is impossible as yet to say. And it was not yet known last night how many had perished in the flames aboard the ship. The fire was checked at midday, the fire float having been brought early to the scene, but work of damping down was still going on. It is believed that there are many bodies on the wreck.

Word that a ship was on fire below Yangtszepoo was received by the River Police at about 6 a.m. and Inspector Mellows hurried men and boats down stream. The ship was found beached on the Pootung side about a mile below the point. Subsequently wind and tide carried the craft away and she approached the Standard Oil wharves, where she was tied up for a brief time. Fear for the oil tanks however necessitated her removal and a steam launch was sent alongside and towed her to a point further down the river. The company to which the Tashing belonged later sent another ship down to go alongside.

Several bodies were recovered from the river by the River Police, some of them badly burned. One man, brought to the Yangtszepoo side, was so terribly burned that he died on the way to Hospital after being placed in an ambulance by the Yangtszepoo police.

The burning of the Tashing is the second such tragedy to occur within a comparatively short period of time. A few months ago another such ship was beached at Woosung, some 150 lives being lost.

Traditional Pomp At Banquet For New Lord Mayor

(Reuter's Service)

London, Nov. 10.—Traditional state and ceremonial marked the Lord Mayor's banquet last night, which was attended by several Ambassadors, including the Japanese Ambassador, Mr. Bonar Law only arrived after dinner. He is suffering from a cold and his voice was husky. He was heartily cheered on rising to respond on behalf of the Government.

Mr. Bonar Law declared that the Government's aim was to give the League of Nations greater opportunities for usefulness. There was nothing new about Constantinople where the Allies were acting with the most complete unanimity. He believed that the difficulties there would be overcome and the peace of Europe secured if the war time Allies acted together.

Mr. Bonar Law's only reference to the present electoral contest was a reminder that while all parties but one were fighting the Labor Party none was fighting Labor because in such a case not one of us could have a candidate returned.

Radio Official Is Guest Of Chinese Commerce Chamber

Mr. R. P. Schwerin, president of the Federal Telegraph Company, who has arrived in Shanghai to see the work started on the great wireless plant which is to be erected here, was guest of honor at a tiffin tendered to him and to the Executive Committee of the American Chamber of Commerce and several other guests yesterday by the Chinese General Chamber of Commerce.

The address of welcome to Mr. Schwerin was made by Mr. Sung Han-chang and Mr. Schwerin replied briefly.

"On behalf of the Chinese General Chamber of Commerce, I have much pleasure in extending a hearty welcome to Mr. R. P. Schwerin, President of the Federal Telegraph Company of California and the Federal Telegraph company of Dejaware," said Mr. Sung.

"As we know, the world is ever progressing. Mr. Schwerin is the man responsible for making it smaller day by day. Being former vice-president and general manager of the Pacific Mail Steamship Company, he is well known on both sides of the Pacific.

"From time to time, the means of communications are getting improved. Formerly it took months to sail from here to San Francisco; now the fast mails ply in a fortnight. Formerly, we had to send messages on horseback; now merely through the medium of ether. We have men to pile up dollars and minutes, and among the foremost is Mr. Schwerin.

CLOSE RELATIONS

"As two sister republics, the relationship between America and China has been most close and pleasant. If there is anything wanted, that is more facilities in the way of communication. We want to hear more fully and frequently from each other.

"Well, Mr. Schwerin's present mission is to have a wireless plant of astounding size and power erected at Shanghai. The new plant, I am informed, will be the largest and most completely equipped in the world, and work is to be started this month and expected to be completed in seventeen or eighteen months. When such a huge plant is in operation, quick information will be available from the world over.

"In carrying out this scheme, Mr. Schwerin will fill a longfelt need. Distance will not a bit interfere with our business. We may be far away, but we will transact business just as if we were face to face in the same room.

"In conclusion, I have to tender to Mr. Schwerin the warmest thanks of the Chinese community for his assurance to hand over his plant to the Chinese Government when the latter pays for the stations. Let us all drink to the health of Mr. Schwerin and to every success in his work."

"It is important that the people in America know China as she is and get the news from them and, vice-versa, that the people of China should know America better and get more direct American news," said Mr. Schwerin in responding to the toast. "Our Government believes that this project is very important. In the early days I connected China with America when I was Vice-President and General Manager of the Pacific Mail Steamship Company. I have come back via the air route and am here to connect China with America by air, that is—radio.

FAST TRAVELLING

"I was asked by Mr. Sung how long it would take a radio message to go from Shanghai to San Francisco. My only explanation is that a radio message by our method travels 186,000 miles per second. Mr. Sung has already so completely stated my work that it leaves me very little to say in that direction. What everyone in business

POINCARE SAYS FRANCE WILL ACT ON REPARATIONS

To Persist In Demands For Payment, Says Premier

(Reuter's Service)

Paris, November 9.—After a speech by M Poincare on reparations today, the Senate unanimously passed a resolution of confidence in the Government.

M. Poincare said that Germany was professedly bankrupt but that she was rebuilding and increasing her mercantile fleet and quadrupling certain strategic railway lines. France would persist in her demands for control of German finances and exports. The question would be asked at the Brussels Conference whether the Allies would consent to resort with France, if necessary, to force. France counted on the friendship of Britain who could count on the friendship of France. They would exercise their rights alone sooner than be unpaid.

Asked by the Reporter-General whether he admitted that the 90,000,000,000 francs France had advanced for reparations on Germany's account was lost except the interest on it, M. Poincare replied that the Government would forgo no part of what was due and would keep intact the guarantees under the Treaty.

SITUATION IN NEAR EAST IS MUCH EASIER, LONDON TOLD

Allied Capitals Believe Crisis Has Been Passed

TURKS YIELDING

Kemalist Representative Meets The Allied Generals

(Reuter's Service)

Paris, November 9.—France is despatching another battleship to Turkey.

London, Nov. 9.—The situation in Constantinople is less strained according to the latest news via Paris. Hopes are entertained that a satisfactory issue will be found. Rafet Pasha has expressed a desire to reach a modus vivendi. He met the Allied Generals this afternoon to settle the details of the police and military and other administrative questions.

Meanwhile a fresh incident has occurred between British soldiers and Turkish police. The result was that a soldier was killed and a policeman arrested. An imposing force of British troops and bluejackets with bayonets fixed afterwards demonstrated in the principal streets of Pera.

Paris, Nov. 9.—Official information confirms the impression that there has been an improvement in the Near East situation. Reports from the Allied High Commissioners state that they have had several interviews with Rafet Pasha and the Angora Foreign Minister which have yielded the impression that the Kemalist is beginning to entertain sounder views of the situation. Differences have not yet been completely settled but appreciable progress is being made.

TO AID KEMALISTS

A noteworthy development is that the Allies have consented to co-operate with the Kemalists in certain administrative councils which are to be placed under Allied control.

Angora, Nov. 9.—The Kemalists demands to be submitted to the Lausanne Conference include:

The acquisition of Mosul and rectification of the Syrian frontier.

Payment by Greece of a £240,000,000 indemnity and denial of Greece's right to West Thrace.

Insistence on a plebiscite in West Thrace and complete autonomy of the Greek isles off the coast of Asia Minor.

London, Nov. 9.—The Soviet representative in London today handed a new note to Britain insisting on the participation of Russia, the Ukraine and Georgia in all the deliberations of the Near East Conference. The Note disclaims any desire to place Turkey under tutelage and says that Russia merely seeks to maintain Turkish rights on land and sea.

Rome, Nov. 9.—At a six hour meeting of the Cabinet yesterday afternoon Signor Mussolini stated that he had telegraphed to the Italian High Commissioner at Constantinople saying that he favored the formation of a united front with regard to Turkey.

WARSHIPS TO STAY

Also that he had ordered the warship, Archimede, to remain at Constantinople. Other vessels would be held in readiness to protect Italian nationals if necessary.

Signor Mussolini stated that Italy had agreed to the British suggestion for the postponement of the Lausanne Conference provided that the delay was very brief.

Signor Mussolini reserved to himself the freedom to participate in any conference of the British and French Premiers. If he was personally prevented from attending the Lausanne Conference he would appoint a delegate in whom he had confidence.

(French Wireless)

Paris, Nov. 9.—The Minister of Marine announced today that the French Battleship Jean Bart has been dispatched to Constantinople.

In view of the unsettled situation in the Near East the French Government has sent a note to the British government asking that the conference

Lausanne be called on November 13 or as soon thereafter as practicable.

Dispatches from London quote Lord Curzon as saying that he will not act unless in complete accord with France. Explaining the utterances of the British Secretary for Foreign Affairs the Temps states that one of the greatest ties that bind the two nations is their common hatred of engaging in a new war.

Paris, Nov. 9.—Commenting favourably on Lord Curzon's speech yesterday in London, the Temps says:—

"Amongst the existing bonds between England and France Earl Curzon cites in the first rank the common desire to avoid a new war. There is no part of his speech which does not merit approval and retention."

American Sailors Strike Because Of Chinese Employes

Sailors composing the crew of the American freighter "Wheatland Montana," of the Pacific Steamship Company's transpacific Shipping Board fleet, went on strike just as the vessel was scheduled to sail from Seattle on her last trip, because of the employment of Orientals as part of the crew. The "Orientals" referred to are Chinese who were employed for fire and engine room work.

Officials of the steamship company, defending their action in employing Chinese, said the Chinese "gave better services in the tropics." The company's official statement said:

"All the unlicensed men in the fire and engine rooms of the Wheatland Montana, nine men all told, were replaced by Chinese today, a total of thirteen Chinese being required to perform their duties. The Chinese signed on, became firemen, oilers, wipers and water tenders, filling positions held by Americans. The Americans in the big freighter's steward's department, six men all told, also have been replaced by Chinese."

The big passenger liner President McKinley of the Pacific Steamship Company's transpacific fleet carries twenty-seven Chinese in her fire and engine rooms. The complement consists of twelve firemen, six wipers and nine oilers. The positions were formerly held by Filipinos, who were replaced in the Orient by the Chinese during the last voyage of the President McKinley. The passenger liner President Jefferson of the Pacific Steamship Company, which sailed from Seattle recently for the Orient, has Filipino oilers, firemen and wipers and white water tenders. They will all be replaced by Chinese in the Orient, according to present plans of the Shipping Board and the Pacific Steamship Company.

in Shanghai is no doubt interested in it the rates and in what service we are prepared to give. My policy regarding this is that I do not believe in keeping the station idle one hour out of the 24. I want all the business the stations can handle and it is my intention to attract that business by keeping the rates down to a reasonable figure. Shanghai warrants and is entitled to the finest station in the world.

"I came to Shanghai 25 years ago and the Shanghai of then is not the Shanghai of today. Wonderful improvements have been made in Shanghai and it is today one of the finest cities in the world, of which you can justly be proud. America is proud to have a part in building this wireless plant jointly with the Chinese Government here in Shanghai, which will do much to link up closer the binds between Shanghai and the Golden Gate.

"I want to thank you gentlemen of the Shanghai General Chamber of Commerce for your most delightful time. It has been a real pleasure for me to have had the opportunity of being your guest today. I thank you for your cooperation as I may want to call upon you many times for help and advice."

Mr. Barnes Moss, who was active in the negotiation of the radio construction contract between the Chinese Government and the Federal company was also a guest at the time, as was Mr. Yang Tcheng, former Foreign Commissioner.

Chinese Fairy Tale Pleases American Woman's Club

The fascinating tale of "The White and Black Snake" as told by Mr. Charles Kliene at the meeting of the Literary Department of the American Woman's Club yesterday afternoon held the interest of a large audience.

According to Mr. Kliene the tale, which is translated from one of the most famous of China's dramas and is produced every year in Shanghai Chinese theaters in June, is based on the festival held on the fifth of the fifth moon. At this time certain grasses and herbs are hung in the doorways of the houses which will drive away all reptiles and evil spirits. At night these grasses are burnt and so powerful is the smoke that all snakes, poisonous insects and evil spirits in the neighborhood are killed by the fumes.

The story of the Black and White Snake is as follows:

Many, many years ago a Chinese student was returning to his home from his business when he was overtaken by a rainstorm. While waiting for the boat to carry him across the stream he noticed a very beautiful young girl and her maid also waiting for the ferry.

Being a polite young man he offered the young girl his umbrella and, after they had crossed the stream, escorted her to her home. So beautiful was the girl that the young man fell in love with her and asked his parents to consult her parents regarding marriage.

As the young girl's family was evidently a wealthy one, they sent messengers the day following to consult with her parents. To their amazement they were unable to find any trace of the house or spacious grounds. All that could be found was a hole filled with snakes.

The young lover was broken hearted and searched for the girl for many months. Finally one night when he was returning home there was another rainstorm and as he waited for the ferry he saw the young girl of his dreams with her maid.

Again he escorted her home, and determined not to lose her again. He struck while the iron was hot and brushed away the custom of middlemen, by asking the girl's father for the hand of his daughter.

The father consented and the young man hurried home with the glad news. The day following his parents were escorted to the girl's home, presents exchanged, a formal engagement announced and in a short time the marriage took place.

The young couple took a house of their own near the young man's business.

One day a terrible plague fell upon the city of Hangchow, where they lived. Doctors from all over China were called but they were unable to check the dread disease. Finally the young wife told her husband that she knew of a wonderful grass which, when made into tea, would cure the stricken. During the night she went to the rear of her house and disappeared in a hole. She returned at dawn with baskets of grass. Her husband took these to the local magistrate who gladly tried out the new remedy. In ten days the plague was over and the young man was acclaimed as a great doctor. He became very wealthy from selling the grass and was rewarded also by the Emperor.

Time went on until one day the husband was called away on official business. While he was away the festival of the fifth day of the fifth moon was celebrated. The neighbors, following the ancient customs, hung the herbs famous for driving away reptiles and evil spirits on their doors and in the evening burnt the herbs and incense in their courtyards. The fumes sickened the wife and maid and they were transformed into snakes. The wife, a white snake and the maid a black snake.

When the husband returned he was amazed to find the snakes and catching up his baby son fled from his house. The first person he met was a Buddhist priest who told him he was under the influence of a reptile and would die unless he became a Buddhist priest.

When he returned to his home, accompanied by armed neighbors, the snakes fled to the mountains. The man entered the monastery at the top of Silver Island as a servant of the priests while his son was trained to become a monk.

Ten years passed when the wife decided to find her husband and son. She finally traced them to the monastery and demanded admission. The chief priest refused her entrance. Three days later she returned and was again refused. In anger she transformed herself into a snake and swam into the Western Ocean going down and down until she came to the wonderful palace of the Dragon King. She told him her troubles and asked his aid in helping her see her husband.

He agreed, and sent a great army of sea monsters to the Silver Island followed by a terrible typhoon and tidal wave.

Just as the waves were beating at the doors of the monastery the head priest walked into the court yard and uncorked a beautiful white jade bottle. A heavy white smoke came from the bottle which drove back the waves until they reached their natural level. As the smoke cleared the men saw a black worm and a white worm fall into the bottle.

Determined to punish the wife and maid for the desolation and deaths they had caused, the priest and the husband traveled to Hangchow where they buried the bottle far under the Thunder Peak Pagoda.

Twenty years later, when they were old men, the two returned accompanied by the son, then a fine young man, and dug up the bottle, chanting prayers, the old priest uncorked the bottle and the husband and son were amazed to see two beautiful Buddhas—one dressed in flowing white robes and the other in black come from the bottle and float toward the heavens. The priest turned to the son and said:

"There my boy, you see your mother. She is on her way to immortality. She has attoned for her sins and will be rewarded."

The members of the Literary Section had the opportunity also of hearing Mrs. H. A. Wilbur's paper on "Bronzes and Potteries of the Han Period." Mrs. Wilbur illustrated her very instructive talk by examples of potteries and bronzes of the Han period as well as by lantern slides.

INOCULATION AGAINST DISTRESS

THIS week is Vaccination Week. As a preventive against smallpox, people are undergoing vaccination, safeguarding their health and their life by the best means they know. It is recognized as the counsel of wisdom to safeguard one's health and one's future.

SMALLPOX, however, is but one of the ills that flesh is heir to. There are many other ways of dying, and many other ways of experiencing physical suffering and distress. Most common of all is poverty, —the lack of the things one is accustomed to.

ARE you safeguarding the welfare of your dependents by adequate life insurance? Are you safeguarding them against economic distress as you are safeguarding yourself against physical distress? Life insurance is immunization against distress. Have you an adequate life insurance policy in a strong company?

SUPER-DURABLE FLAT PAINT
FLAT WALL FINISH

A perfect Paint of smooth surface for Interior Wall Coating

The surface obtainable with this paint is smooth and flat, i.e., it is not a grainy, dead, lifeless finish, but of a velvety texture. It dries in a reasonably quick time, so that work can be carried out effectively yet has the property of remaining open long enough to enable the worker to cover a large surface of wall without making laps or edges.

Excellent results with Super Durable Flat Finish are easily obtained, irrespective of the skill of the user, and an elaborate preparation of the surface is usually quite unnecessary.

Super Durable Flat Finish has been tried on non-absorbent surfaces of all kinds and where distemper and oil paint have proved prone to shell or flake off, it has always adhered. It gives a lasting finish of surprising beauty.

1 Imperial Gallon covers about 120 square yards one coat.

Plaintiff Awarded G. $250 In 'Pro Bono Publico' Suit

Judgment for G.$250 and costs was given against the American Drug Company and in favor of Mr. George Chiskin, publisher of "Pro Bono Publico," by Judge C. S. Lobinger of the United States Court for China in a decision handed down yesterday. The text of the judgment follows:

In 1921 plaintiff, who is a Russian citizen, published an advertising booklet called "Pro Bono Publico" which contained advertisements from leading business houses in Shanghai. To further the sale of it plaintiff secured from many of these an agreement to give a discount in selling goods to holders of the booklet. Among those who so agreed was defendant and its agreement was in the following form:

To the Editor of
"Pro Bono Publico"
Economy and Discount Pocket Book

Promissory Note

The holder of the "Pro Bono Publico" Economy and Discount Pocket Book is entitled to a discount of 10 percent (ten percent) on usual prices in respect of all articles purchased at our establishment during the year 1921.

(Firm)
American Drug Company
Successors to Voelkel & Schroeder
B. J. Hensler
Manager
(Ex. "C")

Shanghai Jany. 28th, 1921.

This action is brought on the foregoing agreement, the complaint alleging that defendant "subsequently refused to grant the promised discount to subscribers to the said book." (Par. 4)

Defendant denies this averment and "alleges on the contrary that it has in every respect carried out its undertaking." (Par. 4)

It will be seen that the agreement is unilateral, i.e., it purports to be an undertaking by defendant alone; though is also imports an obligation on plaintiff's part to publish and circulate the booklet in question. But the fact that it is unilateral in form does not affect its validity:

"The covenant may be on one side only; as where A and B for a consideration promise with C to pay an annuity to D."

Again the agreement was manifestly made for the benefit of others, i.e., the holders of the book, who are accordingly entitled to sue for any breach of its terms affecting them. But that does not prevent an action by "the Editor of Pro Bono Publico" to whom it is addressed and through whom defendant undertakes directly to give the discount to others, the consideration being mutual benefits—to plaintiff in promoting the circulation of his booklet and to defendant in extending its patronage. Any failure to observe the undertaking would necessarily affect plaintiff injuriously and he is therefore entitled to sue on the agreement both as the original contractee and as a holder of the booklet.

In spite of defendant's denial it appears to be unquestioned that there were at least some refusals to allow the discount. The editor of the "Russian Echo," D. Shendrikoff, testified that he was one of these. He says he made a $15.00 purchase and that "the girl took the book to the office and returned without any permission for a discount." The cashier of the same paper testifies to a refusal although he says that he produced another's book. Defendant's Russian clerk states that the wife of a high Russian official was refused a discount and the fact that she was later given it while it might be sufficient as to her might still not repair the injury to the circulation of plaintiff's booklet. Another witness who had been in plaintiff's employ testified that the book was thrown in his face by one who claimed to have been refused a discount. Finally plaintiff himself testified that he received many complaints of such refusal and was himself refused although as a holder of the booklet he would seem to be as much entitled to it as any other.

Various of defendant's employees, present and former, testify that they personally never refused the discount and were instructed to allow it; but this, of course, does not refute the testimony of those witnesses who state that they were refused. But the most conclusive item of evidence on this point is found in the correspondence between the parties. Plaintiff's attorney wrote defendant on April 7, 1921, after the agreement had been in force nearly three months:

"I have been requested by Mr. Chischkin to ask you the reason of refusing a discount of 10 percent on goods bought from your dispensary to bearers of 'Pro Bono Publico' books, contrary to your agreement of January 28, 1921." (Ex. "G").

It will be seen that this communication assumes the refusal of the discount. In defendant's reply, which is attached to the same letter such asumption is not denied but the following explanation is offered by defendant's manager:

"This 10 percent is applicable only upon prescriptions and medicines as we are manufacturers of and does not refer to any imported articles or commodities." (Ex. "G").

It will be seen that this is in effect a repudiation of the agreement since the latter provided "a discount of 10 percent on usual prices in respect of all articles," etc. It is true that the manager explains that this was a mistake on his part due to the fact that at the time of writing this memorandum he did not have before him a copy of the contract. But this explanation appears to have been first made at the trial and the memorandum itself does not appear to have been withdrawn so that plaintiff and others who might know of it were left to understand that the agreement as to all imported goods at least was repudiated.

There appears no doubt therefore that at least a technical breach of the agreement was committed; but in assessing damages for such a breach grave difficulties are encountered. Plaintiff cannot of course recover directly for any discounts lost by other holders of his booklet though such refusals as well as the attempt to exclude imported articles from the agreement would necessarily affect his sales. Just how much they were so affected is however a question upon which the evidence affords us little if any light. Plaintiff testified that he published 5,000 copies and sold 160 of which some 40 were returned. We may infer that sales were prevented by the refusals proved as well as by others not proved but we cannot base an award of damages upon inference. Neither can we assume that plaintiff would have sold all of his copies nor even that none would have been returned had there been no refusals. That could only have been shown by calling as witnesses the parties who returned the booklets.

As to the claim of reimbursement for the expenses of printing and for the installation of an office to exploit the publication the rule of this Court is that the damages must be such as could reasonably be foressen by the parties and we do not think it could be said that defendant on signing this agreement could reasonably have expected that a breach of it would entail any such losses as are here claimed.

We are disposed to agree with defendant's counsel that this is a case for nominal damages; for

"where plaintiff establishes a wrong and actual loss therefrom he is entitled to nominal damages at least, although the actual damages are not susceptible of being exactly ascertained."

Thus, as was said in one case,

"At any rate, the plaintiff was entitled to at least nominal damages for his loss of time."

As to the meaning of this phrase—

"The term 'nominal damages', like 'exemplary damages' is purely relative, and carries with it no suggestion of certainty as to amount. . . . In some cases, a very small amount might constitute the trivial sum contemplated by the term 'nominal damages;' in others, a much larger amount might measure down to the same standard of triviality. It would depend largely upon the vastness of the amount involved what sum would be considered trivial."

In some cases as much as Gold $250.00 has been allowed by way of nominal damages. Following these precedents we are of the opinion that such an amount would not exceed the limits of nominal damages in this case where plaintiff sues for Mexican $5.675,00.

It is accordingly considered and adjudged that plaintiff recover from defendant the sum of $250.00 U. S. currency together with his costs.

By the Court.

Judge.

A LITTLE AND GOOD
MOTTO

On the principle that "a little and good" is better for you, you can be gently stimulated by the use of Haig & Haig at no increased cost.

Suspicion

Amongst the innumerable evils that have come in the wake of America's pretence of going "dry," one that must be noted is the growth of suspicion.

So much fraud has followed America's futile effort that honest American (and other) people are made suspicious when there is no ground.

Here is an amusing example:

The hideous trade in substitutes for good honest alcoholic drinks is demoralising thousands and making them suspect anything that has the least appearance of fraud or that they do not understand. Super-criticalness has become an obsession.

Recently Americans, Canadians, Mexicans and others living in or adjacent to dry (?) America have found a mare's nest in the mould marks on the bottom of whisky bottles.

They actually persuaded themselves that clever rogues were cutting a large round hole out of these bottles, removing the contents, substituting something inferior, and putting back the "cut-out" as neatly as a clever dentist replaces a tooth that he has removed.

The thing is, of course, commercially impossible. It will be a loss to the world if America loses, besides its freedom, its sense of humour.

MR CLAUDE HILL, RED CROSS CHIEF, PAYS VISIT HERE

Sailing Today To Attend Conference In Bangkok

Several delegates to the Red Cross Conference to be held in Bangkok are sailing from Shanghai today by the French Mail liner Porthos.

Among the delegates are Sir Claude Hill, Director General of the League of Red Cross Societies, with headquarters in Paris, and Mr. Lyman Bryson, also of the Societies. Dr. W. W. Peter, of the Council on Health Education, goes to represent that organisation. Two delegates representing the Chinese Red Cross left last night. They are Mr. Yang Tcheng, of the Red Cross Society here, former Ambassador to Germany, and Mr. Wong Bai-yun. The Chinese Consul at Singapore will also attend the conference as a China delegate.

Sir Claude Hill, who will represent Great Britain and Australia, during the stay of the Porthos in Shanghai spent most of his time familiarizing himself with the Chinese Red Cross and its workings. He expressed much gratification over the establishment here of the Red Cross Hospital and complimented its work, particularly that done in training nurses. For her excellent work in this line he gave high praise to Miss Woo, who has that branch in charge.

The Bangkok Conference opens on November 29 and will last until December 7.

Pavlowa

Anna Pavlowa and her Ballet Russe, will bow adieu to Shanghai today, leaving a hopelessly indebted city to pleasurable recollections of the finest season of artistic endeavor in its history.

There will be a specially arranged matinee at the Olympic at 3 this afternoon and the performance this evening wil close the great Russian dancer's local engagement.

Last night another crowded house enjoyed another wonderful program, which included the exquisite ballet "Flora's Awakening." Pavowa was called to the footlights time after time to bow her thanks to an excitedly enthusiastic audience and at the conclusion of the Swan dance she had a tremendous ovation.

Chess Club Has Annual Meeting

The annual meeting of the International Chess Club was held on Wednesday last when the thirteenth annual report and accounts were passed. Dr. Stafford Cox, the President pointed out that 12 new members had joined during the past season making a total of forty-three members. A weekly column on chess had been published in the North China Daily News, and had aroused much interest among the general public, and enabled them to get in touch with many chess players outside the Club. Several lectures on chess had been delivered, and had been well attended.

The election of officers and committee then took place with the following results: President, Dr. Stafford Cox. Vice-President Mr. G. O. Jackson. Committee, Messrs. E. J. Commissariat, M. Diamant, A. H. Gutierrez, M. Jaffee, J. H. Kortright, C. B. Morrison, E. H. Shibbeth, V. K. Vykhristoff, Secretary and Treasurer Mr. J. A. Jackson.

It was decided that in the coming season the games for the International Shield Competition should not be consultation games, but individual play, with as many members as possible taking part.

It was also decided that each Wednesday should be open to visitors and should be devoted to simple "knockout" tournaments, "moves reversed" and chess problems in which anybody could take part. This will make the Wednesday evenings livelier, and afford an opportunity for those who wish to learn chess and make a start to take part. The first of these evenings will be on next Wednesday, November 15, when there will be a general knockout tournament commencing at 5:30 p.m., and to which the public is invited.

S'HAI FOOTBALL ASSOCIATION ELECTS OFFICERS FOR YEAR

A discussion of the prospects for the opening of the Association Football season as well as the election of officers for the ensuing year were the chief topics brought before the annual meeting of the Shanghai Football Association held Thursday evening at the Cathedral School.

Mr. A. T. Stewart, Vice-president of the Association who took the chair in Mr. John Prentice's absence, stated that although it was impossible to give an exact accounting of the finances he believed that the Association was not in debt and that they hoped to open the new season with a vision of success both from a sporting and financial standpoint.

Mr. C. W. Hampson (secretary-treasurer) stated that although there was no cash balance on hand he believed that a total of $172.96 was available. Only three clubs had paid their subscriptions for the last season. He regretted that he could not give tabulated results of the games played last year since the scores had not been recorded in the minutes.

Mr. Stewart expressed confidence that there would be no difficulty in starting the new season without any credit balance on hand as the entrance fees from the various clubs for league and cup competitions as well as subscriptions from members of the Council would make a sound starting basis.

The following officers were elected for the ensuing year, Mr. John Prentice, President; Mr. A. T. Stewart and Mr. W. S. Campbell, vice-presidents; Mr. G. W. Hampson, secretary; and Mr. G. F. Forshaw, treasurer.

Following the election of officers, Mr. Stewart referred to the loss sustained by the Association through the death of Sir Everard Fraser their late President and a unanimous vote of condolence was sent to Lady Fraser.

In the first league match for the Carlill Cup between the St. Francis Xavier's College and The Thomas Hanbury School the former easily won by the score of 6 goals to 1. This game was played at The Hongkew Park on Wednesday and a big crowd witnessed the battle.

The Thomas Hanbury School opened the game with the wind in their favor, and early in the start Maitland of The T. H. S. scored the first goal. The Xavier's forwards then got into some combination, and it did not take long when Costa for the Xavier's tested the goaler with one of his hot drives which the goaler had not the least chance of saving it, thus making the score 1-1. In the second half the Xavier's had the wind in their favor and did their best by annexing 5 more goals. As a whole the game was a well contested one, but the Xavier's defence was too good for The Hanbury School.

Costa and Aboitiz are by far the best men for the Xavier's while Maitland was the pick for the Hanbury School. Mr. Drake refereed the game to everybody's satisfaction.

The Juniors and Midgets for the Xavier's won by the score of 5-0, and 16-0 respectively.

A friendly match has been arranged to be played on the Public School for Chinese grounds today at 3 p.m. between the Eleven of the Thomas Hanbury School for Boys and the Alumni Football Team of the Public School for Chinese. The following will represent the P. S. C. Alumni: S. L. Zee, Y. T. Har, Z. N. Yue, T. H. Nao, M. C. Chang, T. Z. Yang, S. Y. Loeh, V. P. Wong, D. Y. Li, G. Wahh, P. T. Zee. Reserves: T. H. Ting, M. D. Han, J. S. Woo.

HONGKONG ALL OUT FOR 140 IN FIRST INNINGS OF BIG INTERPORT MATCH AT COLONY

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Hongkong, November 10.—The Interport Cricket match between Hongkong and Shanghai opened today in sunny weather. The wicket was good and there was a large attendance. At the interval Shanghai had taken six wickets for 61 runs, Hayward and Wilson being in excellent form and Billings' and Wilson's bowling being most accurate.

Pearce and Olliver batted first. The former was out l.b.w. after he had scored 10, and the latter was bowled by O'Hara with 5 runs. Havelock Davies was caught by Hayward at 9, after a rapid fall of wickets (Stapleton 0, Quick 3, and Sayer 0), Hancock and Webster made a stand and at the interval had scored 16 and 10 runs respectively.

After the tiffin interval Hancock and Webster made a fine display and brought up the score to 104 when Webster was bowled by Wilson for 35 runs. Billings bowled Evans for 11 runs. And Reed for one run. Leach was caught and bowled by L. J. Davies for 5 runs. Hancock was not out for 45. Extras 16. Hongkong was all out for 140 runs.

Siki Loses Chance To Fight In London

(Reuter's Service)

London, Nov. 9.—The Home Office has banned the Beckett-Battling Siki fight fixed for December 7 at the Albert Hall on the ground of the undesirability of contests of this sort between whites and blacks.

In a fight yesterday evening in Paris for the French middleweight championship, Prunier knocked out Balzac. At the conclusion of the fight Siki, who was seconding Balzac, sprang into the ring and advanced towards Prunier and Prunier's manager with raised fists.

The officials interfered and prevented Siki using violence while the audience hooted the Senegalese, who finally was hustled out by the police.

French Displeased By Berlin's New Reparations Plans

(Reuter's Service)

Berlin, Nov. 9.—Disappointment is expressed in Reparations Commission circles at the intangible character of the German proposals in replying to the Reparations Note delivered early this week requesting more concrete proposals with regard to the reorganisation of German finances.

The reply considers stabilisation of the mark a very urgent task but states that an essential preliminary to possible measures is a final and immediate solution of the reparations problem.

The reply suggests the Commission's sympathetic consideration of a plan for the formation of an unofficial syndicate for supporting the mark, apparently proposed by British, Dutch and Swiss bankers with the Reichsbank co-operating conditionally on suspension of the Treaty payments until the foreign syndicate's advances are refunded.

Sir John Bradbury, the British delegate on the Commission, interviewed by Reuter, emphasised the urgency of Germany formulating measures and submitting proposals for concessions if a German catastrophe is to be avoided.

While testifying to the close collaboration of the French and British reparations representatives Sir John Bradbury expressed the opinion that a policy of control or coercion would inevitably result in the franc going the same way as the mark.

JAPAN HEDGES ON WITHDRAWAL OF POSTOFFICES

Agreement To Get Out Does Not Apply To Leased Territory, Claim

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, Nov. 7.—In an interview with Mr. Riji Amau, Secretary-General of the Japanese Delegation to the Sino-Japanese Postal Conference, yesterday Reuter's representative asked the following questions and received the following replies:

What Japanese post offices in South Manchuria are to be withdrawn?

It is contemplated to withdraw, in accordance with the Washington resolution, post offices other than those in the leased Territory of Kwantung and the South Manchuria zone.

Has China made any proposal respecting the post offices in the railway zone?

China has asked for an expression of Japanese opinion on the meaning of the Washington resolution regarding the railway zone.

Is it true that the Chinese Delegates presented at the confernce a demand for the withdrawal, of the Japanese post offices in the railway zone?

No. China presented no such demand at the conference. Nor is there any reason why such a question should be discussed at the present conference, because:

First of all, Japan agreed at the Washington Conference to the resolution concerning the withdrawal of the foreign postal agencies in China on the understanding that it did not apply to her leased territory and the railway zone, and the resolution was adopted in that sense.

Consequently, as far as Japan is concerned, she has but to carry out her part in the resolution with that understanding.

Furthermore, in the second place, while the Japanese delegates are commissioned at the present conference to make arrangements for the execution of the Washington resolution, as just mentioned, they are not authorised to alter such resolution.

But if China refuses in the future to recognise the Japanese post offices in the railway zone what course will Japan take in the matter?

If China unfortunately chooses such an attitude it will merely mean that China herself will be attempting to prevent the execution of the resolution which Japan is prepared to carry out in the interests of China.

In such a case there would be but one course open to Japan, namely, to defer the carrying out of her part in the resolution until China recognises her obligations under the resolution.

Do you think there is any intention on the part of the Chinese to bring up a general question regarding the railway zone with this particular question as a starting point?

Not at all. What we are concerned with at present is whether or not the Washington resolution prohibits our post offices in the railway zone, not with the question of what Japan's rights and interests are in the railway zone.

Beer And Wine Tax Would Pay Bonus, Says Congressman

(Reuter's Service)

Washington, Nov. 9.—Proposals for legislation modifying the provisions of the Prohibition Act regarding the sale of beer and light wines are regarded as one of the probable outcomes of the elections.

Mr. Britten, member of the House of Representatives for Illinois, has already announced that the Soldiers Bonus Bill with additional provisions for paying the bonus by a tax on light wines and beer will be introduced into Congress.

The proposed legislation would define "intoxicating liquor" so that beer would be limited to an alcoholic strength of four percent and wine to 14 percent.

U. S. Ships Fail To Get Share Of Trade

(China Press Service)

New York, Nov. 10.—Former United States Senator George E. Chamberlain, of Oregon, now member of the United States Shipping Board, in a speech said American merchant vessels carry less than one third of the American competitive overseas commerce of 40,000,000 tons annually. He urged the construction of suitable ships to meet foreign competition and said a subsidy aimed at increasing the activity of American ships.

It is much easier to be critical than to be correct.

Japan Plans Big Budget Saving

(Eastern News Agency)

Tokio, Nov. 9.—The Budget Cabinet council was brought to an end today and the Ministry of Finance this afternoon at 7 o'clock made public the following rough estimate for the fiscal year, 1923-1924.

Ordinary annual revenue is estimated at Yen 1,236,000,000, and extraordinary annual revenue Yen 114,000,000 totalling Yen 1,350,000,000 whereas ordinary annual expenditure is estimated at Yen 987,000,000 and extraordinary annual expenditure Yen 363,000,000 totalling Yen 1,350,000,000.

Of the extraordinary annual revenue the surplus from last year is Yen 54,000,000.

Estimated annual revenue compared with the last Budget Yen 131,000,000 has been curtailed. The decrease is due to the business stamp-duty income tax law, and the abolition of the petroleum consumption-duty law has been saved.

Canada To Show Exhibits In France

Prohibition Cutter Fires On Rum Ship

(China Press Service)

New York, October 15.—Ten solid shots were fired by the prohibition cutter Newberry at a mysterious two-funneled steamship that escaped after an exciting chase through the narrows. Any one of the shots from the one-pound forward gun was capable of sinking the steamer, had they struck her below the water line.

The first shots were fired across the bow of the steamer in an attempt to bring her about, but if the skipper of the mystery craft was impressed by the bombardment he disguised his feelings admirably, for instead of heaving to, he sent his fast and rakish craft full steam ahead and distanced his pursuer. So it will be recorded on the log of the prohibition cutter Newberry, whose first real battle cannot be described as a victory.

The gunners said they knew it was a rum ship because a blue haze with an alcoholic taint spoiled their visibility.

New Chief Named For Civil Affairs

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, Nov. 7.—The Ministry of the Interior has appointed the Chief of the Department of Civil Affairs, Mr. Hsu Hsi, to take charge concurrently of the administration of the Peking Municipality.

He will act in succession to Mr. Lu Chu, who has been removed from office and handed over to the judicial authorities for trial on a charge of corruption.

Despair is the conclusion of fools.

Vanity, jealousy, love, hate, each of the fads, foibles, and freaks of human nature have been painted by Cecil B. De Mille.

Never before have you seen the feelings of a woman face to face with a man she loves but who is, in her eyes, a despiseable coward.

A very unusual picture. Gets away from the general run of picture theme. The most interesting love story of modern screen achievements.

Normalcy

THE housecleaning indulged in by the American electorate on Tuesday merely indicates a new attempt in a new direction to get back to normalcy.

The strangest angle of the great upheaval is that President Harding, who is hit hardest, is the man who coined the phrase, "Back to normalcy."

Mr. Harding was elected to the Presidency on this slogan. He promised a return to normal conditions. Since he made this promise conditions have become more chaotic: the new high tariff has been put into effect, taxation has not been reduced, the Bonus Bill has been vetoed, and several other enactments antagonising certain sections of the country have come into being. And bootleggers have become more powerful.

The Democratic landslide is unquestionably the voters' manifestation of dissatisfaction with their government. Poindexter, Beveridge, Calder, Mondell, and Frelinghuysen—all Republicans—were thrown into the discard. Several Democrats, including Hitchcock of Nebraska and Pomerene of Ohio, both prominent in the senatorial ranks, were tossed aside ruthlessly. Congressman London of New York, the only Socialist in the House, and Congresswoman Alice Robertson of Oklahoma, the only woman member of the House, were both shunted aside to make room for new blood. At almost every opportunity the voters lopped off the radical corners of the political structure.

And even in the states that are reputed to be "sure" and "safe" by both parties, strange happenings occurred. Senator Lodge of Massachusetts was returned by the smallest majority within his history. La Follette and Johnson, to whom tremendous majorities are normal, lost many of their supporters and go back to Washington in a chastened mood. Volstead, framer of the bill that made the nation stone dry, was defeated. The voters apparently stopped at nothing in their nation-wide "scratching" of those who have been sitting in the seats of the mighty.

Coming in the wake of the election address at Spokane in which Senator Borah, the Progressive leader among Republican Senators, asserted that it was the opportune moment for the formation of a new party that would take the center of the road instead of veering off to extremes of radicalism or conservatism, the election returns may be taken as a revolution at the ballot box—an appeal Senator Borah made in Idaho in speeches a month ago; a "revolution" that may herald that new party.

There is no education like adversity. Advice is not a popular thing to give.

Making Good At 40

BY W. A. McKEEVER

Widely Known Lecturer and Author and a National Authority on Juvenile Problems.

There is a splendid example for boys in the life story of a certain surgeon whose income at the age of forty is quite enough to place any ambitious man on "easy street."

Imagine a green country lad of twenty- one shambling into college three years behind those of his age, awkward in manners and expression, almost too timid to recite, without method or habit of study, and "afraid to speak to a girl."

But the slow plodder often persists longest and climbs highest. The young doctor-to-be made very mediocre grades in the class room and even some failures. "But I was determined to acquire an education and finally to become a surgeon, so I just kept at it," was his reply to a question about his career.

A college diploma at twenty-five and a long pull of five years more for a course in medicine and surgery and training as an intern—this brought the young practitioner to a sense of mastery and insight as to his chosen profession. Then an emergency case or two came his way—opportunity always knocks at least once at the door of the earnest young man—and his reputation started upward almost sensationally.

After that the way was easy. In 1917 he was going strong, with more cases than he could well handle. Overseas during the war he was in the thick of the carnage, working at times thirty-six consecutive hours in the operating room. Today, as a personal friend states the matter, "they come to him from all parts of the State with the cases that baffle the skill of the other surgeons."

There you have the pattern, my boy. Slow to awaken a rather backward plodder, bashful and uncertain for a while, building solid within, however, and never losing sight of the purpose to go on, this growing soul "just kept at it." And now at forty, he is a tower of strength and achievement Under merely normal circumstances he will be a greater man at fifty.

To "just keep at it"—that is, to struggle along patiently in the pursuit of one's self-chosen purpose, and ultimately to overcome the last difficulty—this period of slow refinement seems to admit of no substitutes or short cuts And, sad to say, only the young man of vision and determination can withstand the ordeal.

To build one's own career—slow and solid—and finally to come out strong at fifty or later is a far greater achievement than to go up flashily at thirty on the capital and reputation which some other, perhaps a father, has left behind.

The Moon Self-Shadowed As The Earth Is

BY GARRETT P. SERVISS

Noted Astronomer and Writer on Subjects of Scientific Interest

"Your explanation of natural phenomena is clearly understood and greatly appreciated. Now will you give us a lesson on the reason of the different shapes presented by the moon? I affirm that the darkened part of the moon is virtually its own shadow, but a friend of mine insists that it is the moon passing through the outer edge of the earth's shadow that makes these various forms from crescent to full.—R. B., Chicago."

The varying shapes assumed by the illuminated part of the moon in the course of every lunation, or lunar month, are called phases; and their differences are due to changes in the relative positions of sun, earth and moon. The moon has no visible light of its own, and we see it only because it reflects to us the sunlight that falls upon its surface.

The moon is a solid, cold and, as far as we can perceive, lifeless globe, not much more than one-quarter as large in diameter as the earth, and apparently destitute of both air and water. But it is no doubt a rocky body, and the sunbeams are reflected with much brilliancy from its bare rocks.

The earth and the moon turn around the common center of gravity between them, but owing to the greater mass of the earth (about as 81 to 1) that center lies, in round numbers, a thousand miles below the earth's surface. The consequence is that the earth seems to circle almost motionless with regard to the moon, while the moon travels around it at an average distance of nearly 239,000 miles.

The plane in which the moon revolves around the earth is very nearly the same as the plane in which the earth and the moon together revolve around the sun. But the distance to the sun is almost 400 times the distance to the moon, so that the moon in going around the earth never passes on the other side of the sun from the earth, but goes between them when it is in that part of its orbit that lies in the direction of the sun.

Now, keep these facts in mind while recalling what was above stated about the moon being visible to us only through the reflection of sunlight from its surface. That being the case, of course we can only see the moon when sunlight falls upon that part of it that is presented at the same time toward the earth. Consider the moon when it is passing nearly between the sun and the earth. Can we see it then? Of course not, because at such times the side of the moon that is reached by the sunlight is just the side that is turned away from the earth. It is true that it, as periodically happens, the moon passes exactly between the earth and the sun, it can be seen as a black circle covering the sun, but that only proves what we have just said, viz., that when the moon is between the earth and the sun, we cannot see it, in the ordinary sense.

Next, consider the moon as it passes out of line with the sun, going eastward from the sun as viewed from the earth. When it has got an appreciable angular distance from the sun we begin to see it in the western sky as a bright crescent. That crescent is formed by a portion of the spherical surface of the moon, which is now in such a position that it is presented toward the sun and the earth at the same moment, and being illuminated by sunlight, becomes invisible.

The moon continues to move away easterly from the sun, and when it reaches the southern quarter of the sky, and is so placed that its direction from the earth is at a right angle to the sun's direction, we see it as a half moon, for now, manifestly, one half of the side of the moon that is presented toward the sun is at the same time presented toward the earth.

The other half of the moon, the hemisphere turned away from the sun, is not lighted and consequently though presented toward the earth, is invisible. That part of the moon, as you correctly remark, may be said to lie in the moon's own shadow, just as the night side of the earth, whatever that side may be at any particular time, is buried in the earth's own shadow, so we may call night the shadow of the earth.

Follow the moon's course onward from "first quarter," the phase just described, and you see that more and more of its spherical surface comes into such a position that it faces at once the sun and the earth, until when the moon is on the opposite side of the earth from the sun the whole of that lunar hemisphere turned toward the sun is also turned toward the earth, and then we see the moon in the "full" phase. During the rest of the lunar month the shape of the moon runs through a reverse series of changes resulting from the same cause.

But at no time is the unilluminated state of the part of the moon that is presented toward the earth without being at the same time presented toward the sun, due to the earth's shadow. On the contrary, it is always due to the moon's own shadow covering that part of its surface.

During lunar eclipses, and then only, does the earth's shadow touch the moon, but this has nothing to do with the lunar phases, and no resemblance to them. The earth's shadow on the moon during an eclipse is always more or less irregular and "smudgy" in outline, and it seldom completely hides any part of the moon.

Household Hints

If cut flowers show signs of fading stand them in a jar of very warm water in a dark cupboard. It will be surprising how quickly they will revive.

When washing dainty lingerie, drop a few lumps or teaspoonfuls of sugar into the final rinsing water. It will give an excellent finish to the garment.

Scald the milk as soon as possible after arrival. This is best done by standing the jug in a saucepan of cold water on the fire. When the water boils the milk is scalded.

When buying mutton it is often more economical to buy a whole neck, as it is cheaper per pound this way. The best end can be roasted or used for cutlets, the middle for haricot mutton, and the scrag for Irish stew.

When gas mantles get old and sooty do not destroy them. Instead, take off the mantel, sprinkle a small quantity of common salt on the fabric, and put the mantle back in position. Light the gas, and in ten minutes all trace of soot will have disappeared.

Starch mostened to a paste with water should be applied to the flesh after a bruise or blow. This will prevent the place discoloring.

The Week's Market Report

COTTON

In their weekly report on the Shanghai Cotton market, Messrs. A. B. Rosenfeld and Son write as follows:

China Cotton.—We have had a strong bull market all the week, accompanied by quite a revival in speculation, and at the close last night an average net advance of some two taels was held, with sentiment still almost unanimous in favor of much higher prices. Conditions are such that speculators of all sizes seem to have become imbued with the idea of very high prices for cotton in the near future.

The demand for spots continues good, with indications that receipts will continue to be freely absorbed, at least until forward engagements have been satisfied. Holders of actual cotton seem to be quite content to accept present values and are paying little attention to the admonitions of so-called leaders to hold back their cotton for higher prices.

During the past week Mid-Americans have risen some 200 points i.e. G.$10.00 per bale and though the rise has been rapid the position seems to be well maintained.

Under the circumstances, therefore, we fail to see any reason for taking a bearish view of the situation, and believe that the chances are in favor of higher prices, nevertheless, after a fairly steady rise of six taels per picul in the local staple from the low level, we are of the opinion that a reaction may be looked for at any moment.

Yarn.—The market has been quite firm during the past week, and prices advanced some two to three taels from last week's level. Some 8-9,000 bales of various counts and chops of local products have been bought up by Szechuen, Kiangse, Weihaiwei, Newchwang, Canton, Wuhu and Swatow dealers, and over 1,000 bales direct business with the Mills have been recorded.

SPUNT'S REPORT

Messrs. J. Spunt and Company write as follows in their weekly report on the cotton market:

China Cotton:—While the mills in general have been buying very sparingly during the past week due to the continued inertia in the yarn situation, prices on the local staple have risen by about Tls. 2.00 per picul higher than the level prevailing during the previous period in that the receipts from the interior marts on the whole averaged normal quantities, 50 percent of which, however, may be said to have been absorbed for speculative purposes. The strength in the Indian markets and the steady rise in Mid-Americans registering 214 points higher on the December position than that last reported constitute important factors, at this time, toward influencing the local rates and is being still further accentuated by the purchasing power in evidence on the part of our industrious neighbor, on the local product, which operations may be expected to continue so long as there exists a considerable disparity in the prices for Indian cotton in favor of the China product.

Having in view the low figures for this Season's crop indicating only 9,300,000 bales coupled with the not superabundant yield in the Indian and China crops there appears for the moment no likelihood of any retrocession in prices setting in for any extensive period and as there are prohabilities for temporary reactions taking place at any time it therefore behooves all consumers, at such times, without the least hesitation, to take advantage of all offerings to cover their requirements before further advances in the rates set in. Tone of the market. Firm.

METALS

There has been a better tone in the iron and steel market of Shanghai with a little more enquiry from the ports in the North. But with regard to indent trade there is no improvement noticeable, and conditions are practically the same as previous weeks.

The price of Hongkong tin has gone up owing to the rise in the price of tin on the London market the rate on the London Metals Exchange showing an appreciation of 3½ points.

Imports of copper from Japan into Shanghai and other parts of China have come to a halt. Foreign copper has been encroaching upon the imports of Japanese copper, and the demand for Japanese copper for the manufacture of wire and other copper goods has fallen off considerably. Though the cost of manufacturing copper in Japan has been cut down by some 20 percent as compared with about a month or so ago, it is still higher than the cost of manufacturing American copper.

The underlying conditions in the London metals market are sound. Copper has been extremely steady there as the belief is prevalent that the price has not risen proportionately with the advance in other metals. As already remarked, there has been great activity in England in the tin market, but the tone has been on the whole very irregular during the week. There was a sudden reaction but this was soon followed by a rise. The visible supply of tin at the end of last month in London was 19,925 tons as compared with 20,488 tons at the end of September. Deliveries during last month amounted to 8,383 tons of which Britain took 1,356 tons. The stock of Straits tin last month was 1910 tons and of Chinese tin about 190 tons.

The metals market in the United States is very firm for most lines. Activity in the American metals export trade is still confined to governmental and semi-governmental buying from Japan. Although enquiries from Shanghai in the American market have been more numerous than in previous months, very little business seemed to have been consumated.

Stocks of wire nails in Hankow have been considerably reduced although a few weeks ago they stood at a high level.

The electrolytic copper market in Japan is still declining, while the price on the New York market remains stationary, standing at 14 cents. Unless economic circles in Europe revive and the New York copper market is strengthened no noticeable improvement in the Japanese market can be hoped for.

PRODUCE

Arrivals of rice into Shanghai from Japan continue on a large scale. During the week 30,000 bags or perhaps a little more were landed here, presumably for Chekiang province and Tientsin.

The price of rice is advancing in the producing countries, but local market is maintained at the previous level. The quotation in Shanghai is $8.50 per Chinese koku, or 1½ piculs for Saigon rice and $9.30 for Bangkok.

The prospect of a big rice crop in Japan this year has greatly alarmed the agricultural interest in that country, and they expect another fall in the price of the cereal, which will be the natural consequence of the expected bumper harvest. The Japanese Imperial Agricultural Society has been memorialising the Tokio Government with regard to the operation of the Rice Law and the maintenance of the price of barley with a view to checking the downward tendency of the market prices of barley and rice. The Japanese are complaining that the price of rice is so low that it does not even meet the cost of production, and that a further fall will seriously menace the livelihood of the farmers.

There is very little doing in other lines of China produce. There has, on the other hand, been a better feeling in the produce markets in London during the week. Rice is firm there and the reason given is scarcity of stocks.

Cabled advices received from San Francisco state that the market there for peanuts is active and very excited. Shelled peanuts 28-30 kernels to the ounce duty unpaid is quoted at $9.00 per cwt., and shelled peanuts 30-32 kernels to the ounce is priced at G.$8.60 duty unpaid. On October 17 the 30-32 kernels was quoted G.$4.35.

HANKOW MARKET

Bar Silver dropped from 34⅞ ready and 34⅞ forward on October 26 to 34⅛ ready and 33¾ forward on the 27th, rose again to 34⅛ ready and 33⅞ forward, and closed on November 1 at 33⅛ ready and 33⅛ forward. New York-London Cross rate from 444¼ on the 30th, but dropped back again to 445⅝ on November 1. T.T. on London remained steady at 3s. 4½d. all the week, with Banks sellers up to 3s. 5⅛d. at which rate some business was done. 4 m-s. Sight Credits which were placed at 3s. 6d. early in the week, were bought as low as 3s. 5⅞d. but at the close were firmer at 3s. 5⅛d. Chinese market rates: Shanghai Tls. 97.6. Local currency dollars: 71.2. Native interest: 4 percent.

Exports.—Further purchases of sesamum seed are reported a firm prices, and white tallow has also been bought in small lots at steady prices. The market for cow hides shows signs of dullness, while cotton is steady, and wood oil very firm.

There is a fair enquiry for most produce, both from Europe and America.

Imports.—Piece Goods:—There is still practically no enquiry for forward goods, and any attempt to advance prices for stock goods results in no business. There is some enquiry for whites and blacks at poor prices. Clearances have greatly improved.

Yarn:—The market appears stronger, and clearances are quite brisk.

FOR REMOVING SUPERFLUOUS HAIR

No woman who has any sense of beauty will deny that superfluous hair is one of the greatest drawbacks to good looks.

Realising this, women of all times have put themselves to any expense, and have endured considerable pain and discomfort in order to rid themselves of this great disfigurement.

Nowadays electrolysis is a prevalent "cure" for this evil, but in reality this process involves a great deal of unnecessary expense, waste of time and pain.

The simplest quickest, and most effective treatment can easily be carried out by any sufferer, in the privacy of her home. This is the recipe:

Procure about 1 oz. powdered pheminol from your chemist; mix a sufficient quantity with a few drops of water into a stiff paste. Apply this carefully and thoroughly to the hair you wish to remove and allow the paste to dry. In a few minutes it can be gently scraped away. The skin is left absolutely free from hair, and should then be carefully washed in warm water, and if desired, lightly dusted with a little talcum powder. (Advt.)

CASTORIA

for Infants and Children.

The Effects of Opiates.

THAT INFANTS are peculiarly susceptible to opium and its various preparations, all of which are narcotic, is well known. Even in the smallest doses, if continued, these opiates cause changes in the functions and growth of the cells, which are likely to become permanent, causing imbecility, mental perversion, a craving for alcohol or narcotics in later life. Nervous diseases such as intractable nervous dyspepsia and lack of staying power are a result of dosing with opiates or narcotics to keep children quiet in their infancy. The rule among physicians is that children should never receive opiates in the smallest doses for more than a day at a time, and only then if unavoidable.

The administration of Anodynes, Drops, Cordials, Soothing Syrups and other narcotics to children by any but a physician cannot be too strongly decried, and the druggist should not be a party to it. Children who are ill need the attention of a physician, and it is nothing less than a crime to dose them wilfully with narcotics. Castoria contains no narcotics if it bears the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher.

Physicians Recommend Castoria.

"Your preparation known as Castoria I have used for years in children's complaints and I have found nothing better."
JOHN J. LEFFA, M. D., Cleveland, Ohio.

"I have prescribed your Castoria in many cases and have always found it an efficient and speedy remedy."
A. F. FESLER, M. D., St. Louis, Mo.

"For several years I recommended your 'Castoria' and shall always continue to do so, as it has invariably produced beneficial results."
EDWIN F. PARDEE, M. D., New York City.

"I have used your Castoria in my own household with good results, and have advised several patients to use it for its mild, laxative effect and freedom from harm."
EDWARD PARRISH, M. D., Brooklyn, N. Y.

"Your Castoria is a meritorious household remedy. It is purely vegetable and acts as a mild cathartic. Above all, it does no harm, which is more than can be said of the great majority of children's remedies."
VICTOR H. COFFMAN, M. D., Omaha, Neb.

"Your Castoria holds the esteem of the medical profession in a manner held by no other proprietary preparation. It is a safe and reliable medicine for infants and children. In fact it is the universal household remedy for infantile ailments."
J. A. PARKER, M. D., Kansas City, Mo.

Exchange Fluctuations

Asia Banking Corporation

November 10, 1922

Spot and forward bar silver were each down ⅛d. in London yesterday.

The New York price declined to 66½ cents and the London-New York cross rate improved to 446⅞.

Our opening rates here this morning were unchanged from yesterday with the exception of the Franc rate which was dropped to 1105 and the Yen rate to 66¾.

As, however, the market was generally weak throughout the day rates were dropped twice, the official Sterling rate at the close being 3s. 2½d., the Gold Dollar rate 71½ and the Yen rate 67½. In the early part of the morning some business in Sterling was done for December-January delivery at 3s. 3d. and in Gold Dollars at 72½ for December and 72⅝ for January delivery.

However, strongbuyers came out at these rates and business was done at successive lower rates until at the close there were no sellers of Sterling at better than 3s. 2⅜d. for any delivery, and of Gold Dollars at 71¾ November, 71⅞ for December and 72 for forward delivery.

Owing to the improvement in the Franc quotation there was a strong demand for Franc T.T. today, there being good buyers at 1110 and sellers at 1100 only.

In the afternoon banks were quoting 3s. 3⅛d. for Sterling bills, 73½ for Gold Dollar bills and 1135 for Franc bills.

China banks sold silver in London yesterday and speculators bought, the market being reported as closing steady.
